Agency Spotlight - ESR

Since 1964, ESR has served individuals in Washington County and has built countless partnerships with area businesses, schools and government. They continue to support adults with developmental disabilities and other special needs by helping them integrate into the larger community and gain meaningful employment. The programs and services they provide are designed to meet the individual needs of each person, and provide the maximum amount of personal choice and control over one’s life. ESR serves approximately 475 adults with intellectual and developmental disabilities and other special needs who reside in Washington County and St. Croix County, WI. Most of the individuals in their service are recipients of Medical Assistance or other means tested support programs. They are referred to ESR by county case managers or other Social isolation is often a challenge for adults with disabilities. They face many challenges being an active member of the community. ESR's Community Integration program addresses these challenges by introducing these adults to a wide variety of activities where they can gain experience interacting with others and taking part in activities they would not otherwise have access to. The demand for ESR's Community Integration services continue to be high.

UWWCE funding provides ESR pay for a part-time Community Integration Facilitator position to organize and implement community integration activities. The Community Integration Facilitator develops and implements volunteer opportunities, community outings, and other activities with program participants. The Community Integration program serves 73 individuals who attend services at ESR's Stillwater hub.
